DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by The English Abstract of Nishimura (Jap: 2000-310715).

The English Abstract of Nishimura relates to a transferable liquid crystal laminate comprising at least a releasable substrate, a protective layer and a cholesteric liquid crystal layer (see English Abstract), the protective layer side of the releasable substrate having been subjected to an easily separable adhesive treatment (the abstract teaches that releasable substrate is removed after the transfer of the liquid crystal layer).

For claim 3, the cholesteric liquid layer has on a part thereof diffractivity (as mentioned in the English Abstract).

Regarding claim 2, the peel strength between the releasable substrate and the protective layer is inherently from 1.95 N/m to 19.5 N/m because the liquid crystal layer is transferred, without damaging, to an object.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Art Unit: 1772

4. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1, the phrase "easily separable" is found to be confusing because it is a relative term and is unclear as to what degree of separability is defined by said phrase.
